Whether helping to load boats onto trailers, offering encouragement around the boat park, or patiently explaining tides to those still getting to grips with them, James has shown the spirit of teamwork, commitment and good humour that this award celebrates. Please join me in congratulating James Dyer, recipient of The Worcestershire Trophy.

Special Trophies
The Baroness Platt of Writtle Seamanship Trophy	Awarded to Sailors who have shown a significant act of seamanship during the regatta	Noah Byrd - On the first race of the first day, Noah was sailing and winning the race when the lower transom gudgeon holding the rudder snapped on his ILCA 6. He continued to sail, despite having very little steering and finished with a respectable 4th place.
The Nuclear Electric Trophy	Awarded to a volunteer for contribution to Safety at the Regatta	Tim Waite and Dave Webb , Event Safety Officer and Deputy Event Safety Officer - As a partnership, they successfully led a huge team of volunteers to provide a safe race environment for all our sailors. Webbie, despite being mid way through emigrating, showed great dedication setting up the comms, instigating the sponsorship with ICOM who provided 50 plus radios. As part of a huge team, they have impressed us all, so we award this to them, recognizing each and every safety crew who have been tireless this week.
The Silver Jubilee Trophy	Awarded to a sailor who has shown a significant act of sportsmanship	Jointly awarded to Olivia Myles (Kent) and Veronica Mann (Northamptonshire) - These two young sailors compete in different teams, but showed fantastic sportsmanship. On day one Veronica was exceptionally nervous, as was Olivia. When Veronica made it to the course, Olivia cheered her on and in one of the races they both thought they were following the other. On day two they made sure they launched close together. It initially appeared in one race that Olivia was waiting for Veronica and encouraging her to follow Olivia but talking to them it seems they were following each other.
